

THE SCOTTISH SOCIETY OF LOUISVILLLE

MAY 2018

VOLUME XXI, ISSUE 5

By John Moffett 🔶

If you can see the forest for the trees, then you are a discerning individual and can see the big picture. That is exactly what transpired at our last General Meeting (March 27th) when we had open discussion about our Scottish Society. What can we do better? What should we be doing that we are not? What are our goals near and longterm? A host of great ideas were presented and discussed. Every one had their creative hats on Each idea is prioritized for short-term (1 year), and ready to take on the future!

In my opinion it was a very positive meeting and members covered a large spectrum of ideas from growing membership to public education. See the consolidated list below...

- Expand Activities at Games/Exhibits
- Conduct & Develop our own Games/Festival
- Involve Millennials via SSL Sponsored Whisky Tasting & Craft Brewery Exhibitions
- Advertise Heritage Fund Availability

- Increase Kirkings
 - Provide & Advertise an SSL Genealogy Service
 - Cookbook from SSL and/or Scotland
 - Parade at Glasgow Games
 - Essay Contest in Schools/Libraries
 - Expand Formal Presentations
 - Submit Articles Regarding SSL or Sponsored by SSL Regarding Scottish Culture to Local -National- and International Publications moderate-term (1-2 years), and long-term (greater than 3 years).

Each one of the ideas will be implemented over the next few years and the board will be seeking members to help staff and put these ideas into action. As we set out to work on these, there will be changes needed and other opportunities that can occur. We all need to looking for new ways to do things and stepping up and working together.

From The President's Desk George "Jeff" Forbes

A personal "Thank You" goes out to Jim Hughes (who coordinated) and all those who participated in the 150th Anniversary Kirking at Beulah Presbyterian Church. A beautiful morning for the service and one had to be very proud of all the flags representing the clans and families of the SSL on both sides of the sanctuary. As we recessed after the service we found ourselves standing in the sunlight on a hill behind the Church. It was a wonderful sight with all arrayed in an arc around the Louisville Pipe Band. Cameras were popping to capture the true beauty of the moment. It felt like Scotland. See the story and Photo of our group on Page 9.

By the way, we received a very nice "thank you" from Beulah Church. It included a generous donation to our Heritage Fund.

We sure had fun listening to the Next Exit at our last membership meeting. Many of us have heard them before either at Burns or previous meetings. This session was more interactive I thought with comments and questions going back and forth as they performed. Many of us found ourselves singing right along with them and clapping to that foot tapping Bluegrass beat. Great sound and just plain fun!!!

An official welcome goes out to our new members: Rosemary Fields, Barbara Spaulding, Doris Wyzard and Janet Abell. Best wishes to all of you and welcome!

I had the distinct pleasure at our last meeting of swearing in our next commissioners. Congratulations to: Robbin Goodin, Dianne Holland, Jim Hughes, Jane Seelig, and Melissa Ingram. You are the greatest! See the Photo on Page 5.

Okay, so we've got some big events coming up. On May 12th we will be involved with the How To Fest that occurs at the Main Library on York Street. We are told that there are typically over 3,000 attendees who come to learn "how to do" things. At the moment I believe we are going to provide presentations on How To Make a Kilt which includes a history and background on the kilt, and a session on How to Make Whiskey with a comparison of the differences between making Scotch and Bourbon.

Shortly after the "How To Fest" event, comes the Glasgow Kentucky Scottish Games at Barren River State Park where we are the honored society. We are hoping to have as many members as possible take part in this event, especially for the parade on Sunday, at which time (2:00 pm) the SSL will be honored and recognized. We encourage all members to get involved and participate in these and other events down the road. It's great fun and a way to meet and make new friends.

Respectfully submitted,

George E. (Jeff) Forbes

P.S. - WARNING: Some entity has been sending emails to members of the SSL Board requesting that monies be sent to an unknown organization. They are using my email address as it is listed in this newsletter and signing it, Jeff Forbes. They may be sending these email to you, a member of the SSL. I have never used that email address. Please disregard and delete any email coming from that address. We are working to isolate the issue and ultimately fix it. We will keep you apprised as we proceed.

The Story of Willie Murdoch and Sheik Abdul

—On the Funny Side

Sheik Abdul Amunkir was admitted to Southampton General Hospital for heart surgery, but prior to the surgery, the doctors needed to store his blood in case the need arose. As the gentleman had a rare type of blood, it couldn't be found locally, so, the call went out for help.

Finally a Scotsman, Willie Murdoch was located who had a similar blood type. The Scot willingly donated his blood for the Sheik.

I am introducing a new member of our Scottish Family, Charlotte Elliott, parents are Matt and Jenny Elliott owners of the Scottish Trading Company.

After the surgery, Sheik Abdul sent Willie, as appreciation for giving his blood, a new BMW, diamonds and 10,000 US dollars.

A few days later, once again, the Arab had to go through corrective surgery. His doctor telephoned the Scotsman who was more than happy to donate his blood again. After the second surgery, the Sheik sent the Scotsman a thank-you card and a box of chocolates.

Willie Murdoch was shocked that the Sheik did not reciprocate his kind gesture as he had anticipated. He phoned the Sheik and asked him, 'I thought you would be generous again, that you would give me a BMW, diamonds and some money, but you only gave me a thankyou card and a box of chocolates.'

To this the Sheik replied, 'Aye Laddie, but I now have Scottish blood in ma veins.'

Community Outreach—Tartan Day Celebrations Making Great Connections!

This year to celebrate Tartan Day SSL set up a convening table at the Crescent Hill and Middletown Libraries that exhibited books and highlighting Scottish Heritage. The report which follows was written and prepared by Judy Stubbs. Jeff Forbes, Janice Beatty and Judy are responsible for the photos to showcase the events, that were very well received.

-Crescent Hill Library-Friday, April 6th

Friday afternoon Jeff and I staffed our Society's exhibit at Crescent Hill Library for about 3 hours. The branch manager placed a table for all of our books in the room where patrons check out books, the reservation desk, which was near the front doors. I brought my 14 inch laptop and had the PowerPoint Presentation slideshow created by Andrew Day (the one he presented as a program for us last year) "The Geography of Scotland" on a thumb drive, that ran throughout the time.

Judy Stubbs (Recording Secretary) and Jeff Forbes (President)

Crescent Hill assistant librarians were especially helpful getting the slideshow up and running after we experienced a couple of glitches. Our exhibit table was in a highly visible location. A second table was placed nearby for many of Society's materials for children. We brought 3 flags/stands: the flag of Scotland, the Clan Forbes flag, and the Clan Leslie Flag. The flag of Scotland was placed on one side of the 6 ft. table holding many of our books: lists of Scottish names; Clan Biographies, Books of Tartans., and a rack that held copies of our Membership Applications. Both the Clan Forbes and the Clan Leslie flags were placed together on the other end of the same table. The branch manager pulled quite a few books and DVD's of Scotland and on Tartans, and had them on a nearby cart for their patrons.

Children's Table Setup

I made a new binder appropriate for "Tartan Day." I had found a description of why April 6th was important in Scottish history. That date in 1320 was when the Declaration of Arbroath was drafted and signed, in the Abbey of Arbroath, and included the names of the signatories with attached "seals." This document was sent to the Pope John XXII who worshiped and worked in Avignon, France (not Rome.) Also, included in this new binder is another document I found that gives some amount of description of the tartans of antiquity.

I was pleased with the quality of our materials that drew patrons to our table of materials, both our books and the binder holding children's coloring pages, boxes of crayons, and an example of a child's kilt and sash. Several patrons came into the library and noticed (Continued on page 8) us, even if they didn't come to inquire. We did have at least five people come inquire and spent time with us learning. Several parents had children and I helped them to find a page to color.

I believe this is an important venue for us to present our materials, and this was the first for us in the Library system. We got into the library system very late, next year we'll contact them in January, for them to spread the word. Knowing that it was Spring Break in the school system made a difference. Branch Manager said she could tell there were fewer people around all week due to this.

All in all, the Branch Manager, and all of the assistant librarians were very enthusiastic and thrilled that we were there. We were all pleased and want to return next year, hoping we'll have a greater number of inquiries.

-Middletown Library-Saturday, April 7th

Saturday afternoon, Janice Beatty and myself staffed the Society's exhibits at the Middletown Library. Janice brought a mannequin body, (probably known as a dress form in the world of sewing), and hung on it a very beautiful and formal kilt, white shirt and tie, and jacket. I do not remember the name of the donor. We had a beautiful sporran donated by Gary Schweitzer. This was placed near our book table.

Judy Stubbs showing the "Official Scottish Kilt"

We also had another table for the children's materials that included a stuffed toy Scottie dog. The flag of Scotland was placed near the entrance to the Library so patrons would see it immediately as they entered; and the Clan Forbes and Clan Leslie flags were placed nearby. The PowerPoint slideshow of "The Geography of Scotland" ran throughout our exhibit. We had more patrons visit us than I expected, even though the Library Manager at Middletown said the number of patrons was less due to Spring Break. I thought it was a success! We had several women take membership applications.

The Branch Manager at Middletown and his assistants were thrilled we were there, said they've been told by patrons that they don't particularly like to drive downtown to the Main Library to see exhibits, so they did go all out for us. Assistants came to the car to help unload and bring into the building our stuff and the same when we closed up!!!

We made Great Connections and look forward to next year.

Kirkin' o' the Tartan Beulah Presbyterian Church

By James Hughes

To assist Beulah Presbyterian Church in celebrating its 150th Anniversary, the Society was asked to join them in holding a Kirkin' o' the Tartan Service which we were delighted and honored to do.

More than twenty members and friends joined the congregation on a beautiful Spring day and proudly processed their flags into the Sanctuary behind Pastor Candi Cubbage, Intern, Madeline Hart-Anderson and liturgist Spence Poole. Scout Leader Brent Seth carried the US Flag and those of the Commonwealth of Kentucky and the State of Indiana were carried by his two scout sons Colin and Lucas The procession was led by pipers Marleen Bailie and Andrew Witten and drummer Christopher Robins from the Louisville Pipe Band; Marleen is also a dedicated Society member. The tartan flags were led by our President Jeff Forbes and members of the congregation joined us in the march. -Sunday, April 22, 2018

150th Anniversary Celebration Beulah Presbyterian Church

In thanking the pastor and church for their hospitality, Jim Hughes asked that that they don't wait another one hundred and fifty years to ask us back!

In her sermon, Madeline reminded us of the myth and facts surrounding the true meaning of the Kirkin' o' the Tartan and it's a message that bears emphasizing. The Scots Confession 1560 was used as the Affirmation of Faith and we were very pleased with this welcome choice.

The recession took us out to the sunshine for thoughtfully provided refreshments and a photo call and extensive use was made of this opportunity.

As part of our sesquicentennial celebration, Beulah Presbyterian Church is hosting a Kirkin' of the Tartans service on April 22, 2018, during morning worship, with the help of the Scottish Society of Louisville and members of the Louisville Pipe Band.

Kirkin' of the Tartans is a celebration of the Presbyterian church's Scottish heritage. The term Kirking, from the Scottish Gaelic word kirk, which means church in this usage, means "blessing." Tartans are the traditional plaid emblems of Scottish clans represented by unevenly spaced colored lines and rectangles on woven wool cloth. The Kirkin' of the Tartans service was created during World War II by Reverend Peter Marshall, perhaps best known by the biographical book and film A Man Called Peter - who was originally from southwest Scotland and at one time pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church in Washington, D.C. In order to encourage Scottish Americans to sign up to fight on be-half of Great Britain, Peter Marshall recreated the Kirkin' of the Tartans ceremony to try to instill pride among Scottish Americans in their Scottish homeland.

While most agree that the service is an American invention, it does seem to be based on the Scottish Proscription when the British Parliament forbade the wearing of the tartans and other Highlander regalia following the defeat of Bonnie Prince Charlie's attempt to restore the Scottish house of Stuart to the throne of England in 1745. In defiance of this proscription, the Scots would secretly wear or carry a piece of their beloved tartan to church on Sundays, and at a prearranged signal, the pastor would incorporate a blessing of the tartans into the prayer. Or, so the story goes. Our service will begin with a procession of Tartan banners to the sound of bagpipe and drum. All who wish to process in with the tartans are welcome to do so. Just congregate in the lobby and follow the pipes. We are having a Kirkin' of the Tartans service at Beulah during our 150th year to celebrate the religious heritage of our denomination, and the prayer of the blessing of the tartans is to be for our varied heritage, a blessing of our families.

Giant dinosaur footprints found on the Isle of Skye in Scotland show the ancient paths taken by T-rex's cousins.

Original Article by Amanda Kooser (April 3, 2018) C|NET (SCI-TECH)

Researchers in Scotland have discovered the dinosaur equivalent of humans stepping in fresh cement. A series of fascinating dinosaur trackstracing back to 170 million years ago are still visible in a tidal area on the Isle of Skye in Scotland.

This area was once a shallow lagoon. The tracks show herbivorous sauropods (relatives of the famous Brontosaurus seen below), and theropods (older cousins of the even more famous Tyrannosaurus rex) once strolled through the muddy ground during the Middle Jurassic period (between 163—174 Million Years ago).

A team of researchers led by University of Edinburgh paleontology student Paige dePolo cataloged around 50 footprints. Drone photographs of the site helped the scientists analyze the fossil tracks.

The University of Edinburgh describes the find as "rare evidence of the Middle Jurassic period, from which few fossil sites have been found around the world." The team published its findings this week in the Scottish Journal of Geology.

The paper discusses the importance of the Middle Jurassic, referring to it as a key era in dinosaur evolution at a time when sauropods grew to massive sizes and the early meat-eating tyrannosaurs diversified.

The footprints help bolster the idea that dinosaurs of that time period spent quite a bit of time hanging out in lagoons.

The footprint came from a long-necked sauropod. Credit: Paige dePolo

The Isle of Skye site joins a list of other trackways discovered around the world, including an impressive sauropod-stomping site in France and a spot in Australia where researchers found some of the most massive dino footprints on record.

ON THE ANTIQUITY OF HIGHLAND DRESS

By Professor Sayce Edited by Michael B. Gunn, Ph.D.

In his Presidential address to the Anthropological Section of the British Association, Prof. Sayce dealt with dress as indicating certain racial facts. As he spoke of the high antiquity of the Highland dress, we quote this portion of his address, for it is both of interest and importance.

There are few things about which a population—more especially in an early stage of society—is so conservative as the matter of dress. When we find the Egyptian sculptor representing the Hittites of the warm plains of Palestine clad in the snowshoes of the mountaineer, we are justified in concluding that they must have descended from the ranges of the Taurus. That is where the bulk of their brethren continued to live. Just as the similar shoes with turned-up ends which the Turks have introduced among the upper classes of Syria, Egypt, and the northern Africa, point to the northern origin of the Turks themselves. Such shoes are utterly unsuited for walking in over a country covered with grass, brushwood, or even stones; they are, on the contrary, admirably adapted for walking on snow.

Now, the dress of Celtic Gaul and of southern Britain, also, when the Romans first became acquainted with it, was the same as the dress which "linguistic paleontology" teaches us had been worn by the primitive Aryans' in their first home. One of its chief constituents were the braccae, or trousers, which accordingly became to the Roman the symbol of the barbarian. We learn, however, from sculptures and other works of art that before the retirement of the Romans from the northern part of Europe, they had adopted this article of clothing, at all events during the winter months. That the natives of southern Britain continued to wear it after their separation from Rome is clear from a statement of Gilda's ("Hist., 19") in which he refers in no flattering terms to the kilt of the Pict and the Scot. Yet from within a century after the time of Gilda's, there are indications that the northern kilt, which he regards as so strange and curious, had become the common garb of Wales.

When we come to the 12th century, we find that it is the National costume. Giraldus Cambrensis gives us a description of the Welsh dress in his own time, from which we learn that it consisted simply of a tunic and plaid. It was not until the age of the Tudors, according to Lluyd, the Welsh historian of the reign of Elizabeth, that the Welsh exchanged their own for the English dress. The Welsh, who served in the army of Edward II at Bannockburn, were remarked even by the Lowland Scotch, for the scantiness of their attire, and we have evidence that it was the a century later. If we turn to Ireland we find that in the days of Spenser and later, the National costume of Irish was the same as that of the Welsh and the Highland Scotch. The knee breeches and sword-coat, which characterize the typical Irishman in the comic papers, are survivals of the dress worn by the English at the time when it was adopted in Ireland.

The Highland dress, therefore, was once worn not only in the Scotch Highlands and in Ireland, but also in Wales. It characterized the Celtic parts of Britain, which the exception of Cornwall and Devonshire. Yet we have seen that up to the middle of the 6th century, at the period when Latin was still the language of the fellowcountrymen of Gilda's and when "Cunedda's men" had not as yet imposed their domination upon Wales, the old Celtic dress with trousers must have been the one in common use. Now, we can easily understand how a dress of the kind could have been replaced by the kilt in warm countries like Italy and Greece; what is not easily conceivable is that such a dress could have been replaced by the kilt in the cold regions of north. In warm climates a lighter form of clothing is readily adopted; in cold climates the convers is the case.

I see, consequently, but one solution of the problem before us. On the one hand, there was distinctive Celtic Dress of the Roman age, which was the same as the dress of the primitive Aryan, and was worn alike by the Celts of Gaul and Britain and the Teutons of Germany; on the other hand, there was the scantier and colder dress which originally characterized the coldest part of Britain and subsequently medieval Wales also. Must we not infer, in the first place, that the aboriginal population of Caledonia and Ireland was not Celtic—or at least not Aryan Celtic; and secondly that the dominate class in Wales after the 6th century came from the northern portion of the island where the kilt was worn? Both inferences at all events, agree with the conclusions which ethnologist and historians have arrived at upon other grounds.

The Donald on Bagpipes... "If I've told him once, I've told him twice... Don't run with bagpipes, because you could put and AYE out or worst yet, get KILT!"

INDIANA UNIVERSITY SOUTHEAST INTERNATIONAL FESTIVAL

March 20, 2018 5-8 PM

Barrowing a motto from the postal workers, "Neither snow nor rain nor heat nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds" Well workers at the SSL Exhibit at IUSE did just that. After setting-up John Dickson, Janice Beatty, and Robbin Goodin were treated to a snowy return following the event. Thanks for stepping up and slushing through the snow to deliver our Scottish Education and Heritage Exhibit to the public at the festival.

Information For Our New Members

Welcome to our new members. Coming into a new group can be a little scary, but know that if you have any questions, just ask. The people in the SSL are some of the friendliest you would ever want to meet. Here is a little bit of information to get you started:

- Read the newsletter and the website. All upcoming events will be listed both places. If you want more information, you can contact any of the board members. Their information is found on the last page of this newsletter.
- All meetings will have a business meeting, some time to socialize, and a program.
- January/February brings our Burns Night Dinner. You won't want to miss that. There will be food, drink, raffles, entertainment, and an all-around good time.
- May starts our "Event" season. The Society sets up a booth at many local and state Scottish and Celtic events, and even a couple of out-of-state events. Don't be afraid. Jump on in and help us in our booth. It's not hard, and everyone will help. It is a great way to get to know some of the members
- November is a really fun meeting. We have a potluck dinner and an auction. Members will be informed of what type of dish to bring according to last name. The auction is so much fun. Everyone is asked to bring at least one item, if they wish, to donate. Now, you will find that a lot of the items are things you would love to have, but some of them ... well, you just have to be there to appreciate it. Proceeds benefit the Heritage Fund, which helps promote the study of Celtic-related "studies" by individuals.
- In December, we do not have a meeting.
- Please visit the table that is set up at our meetings. You will find brochures for upcoming games, magazines, SSL items that are for sale, and many other things.

We hope that you will attend as many meetings as possible (hopefully all of them). We are so happy to have you as a part of the group.

his Fund can also support a person's interest in an educational program or project that furthers the understanding of Scottish culture and history.

Scottish Society members in good standing can apply for funds or can sponsor non-members for scholarships.
